Course Overview and Objectives:

This course is designed to teach students the basic principles of the practice of conducting business internationally from a U.S. business perspective. In addition to concepts from the text, I will present practical real-world information to augment the material from the text. Some of the objectives in delivering this course are as follows:

- Create and/or enhance students understanding of the nature and sensitivities of conducting business in a global business environment
- Develop an understanding of important concepts and practices when conducting business internationally
- How to evaluate international opportunities, conduct trade (get deals done) and understand risks and ways to mitigate various risks
- Implications and importance of U.S. politics and economic implications as they relate to and influence U.S. international business activities

Teaching Philosophy:

It is my responsibility to teach; preparing you for your career; whatever it may be. I take my responsibility very seriously as do I take each student seriously. My approach to teaching is based on observation – that is, I share knowledge with you drawing on my experience in the field consistent with the academic principles of the subject being taught. The intent of my teaching style is simple: provide and encourage an environment and atmosphere that inspires learning. The upshot to you of my teaching style is this - if you are not in class, you cannot learn.

Class Conduct:

The classroom is a place for learning the material being taught. Anyone whose behavior distracts me from teaching or students from learning will be asked to leave. This class is designed to be interactive such that we can learn from each other. As such, I require students to attend class sessions prepared to listen, contribute and ask questions. This is particularly important since I write my own exams and derive test/quiz questions from material presented in class lectures, text reading material, videos, case discussion questions, and classroom discussions. I encourage student participation continuously simply by asking thoughtful questions in a manner that students can relate to. I urge students to participate and not worry about being right or wrong – I endeavor to reward the courage it takes to participate, not punish. It is critical that to prepare for the “sink or swim” world of business that each student learns how to speak up and share thoughts, opinions and/or ideas. The classroom is a perfect place to develop a comfort level without being judged. Finally, I provide considerable guidance for upcoming quizzes and test questions that cannot be gained from anywhere else other than in the classroom. It is each student’s responsibility to make arrangements to get the information from missed classes from another classmate. Do not ask me what you missed or for my notes.

Please make sure your cell phones are turned off or are in the silent mode. Computers may be used during class only for the purpose of note taking – if I see or am informed of anyone using their device for any other purpose that student will lose the ability to utilize their device for the remainder of the semester.

Code of Conduct

All students must practice academic honesty. Academic misconduct is subject to an academic penalty by the course instructor and/or a disciplinary sanction by the University. The University of Montana Student Conduct Code specifies definitions and adjudication processes for academic misconduct and states, “Students at the University of Montana are expected to practice academic honesty at all times.” All students need to be familiar with the Student Conduct Code. It is the student’s responsibility to be familiar the Student Conduct Code.

DSS Students with disabilities may request reasonable modifications by contacting me within the first two weeks of class. The University of Montana assures equal access to instruction through collaboration between students with disabilities, instructors, and Disability Services for Students (DSS). “Reasonable” means the University permits no fundamental alterations of academic standards or retroactive modifications. If you think you may have a disability adversely affecting your academic performance, and you have not already registered with DSS, please contact DSS in Lommasson 154. I will work with you through DSS to provide an appropriate accommodation. For more information, please consult <http://www.umt.edu/disability>.

Communications:

There are several ways a student may communicate with me; email is not the best or preferred way – it should only be used as a last resort. Students should use email only if they need to convey or inform me, not to correspond where a response from me is expected. When using email, Students need to use their designated university email address. Instead, I prefer and ask that students visit with me in person or call me if correspondence is required (back and forth). Under NO circumstance is it acceptable to call me at home, please only call my office number. I ask this of students not to be difficult, but instead as a way to get students to exercise discipline, develop and nurture people skills and to avoid misunderstanding, miscommunication and passive aggressive behavior in general.

Reading Assignments:

Lectures will cover concepts from the required text, including cases, and will be augmented by relevant industry experience, Bloomberg Business week and a few video's that will help relate the material to real-world international business situations. My practice is to lecture on specific material and then, when necessary assign reading from the associated chapter(s) and cases in the text and/or from other sources (e.g., magazine articles). This will allow you to better apply and retain the information that you read. Exams will include questions associated with any reading assigned in addition to lecture material, additional readings, videos, etc.

Grading and Scale:

Exams (2):	60% (30% each)
Quizzes (3):	30% (10% each)
Attendance (5):	10% (2% each)
Grading scale:	93-100 = A
	90-92 = A-
	87-89 = B+
	83-86 = B
	80-82 = B-
	77-79 = C+
	73-76 = C
	70-72 = C-
	60-69 = D
	59 and below = F

Each student will receive the grade they earn. Students are responsible to keep track of their own grade. Grades for each component as well as a running total of the student's cumulative grade can be viewed via Moodle. Please bear in mind that I am not in the habit of assigning extra credit. I may have optional extra credit questions on exams, but students will not be offered extra credit to compensate for poor performance at any point, including after final grades are submitted.

Exams:

There will be two exams during the course of the semester – the second exam is not comprehensive, that is, it will only cover the material covered since the first exam. The exams are a combination of T/F, multiple choice, fill-in-the-blank and short essay/answer. Typically, I will concentrate on particular concepts, terms, theories, etc. and will ask several types of questions on the same concept to ensure that students have a comprehensive understanding of the material.

I do not allow students to take exams or quizzes at any time other than the time indicated on the schedule, unless the student is involved in an official University activity on that day. The student must provide to me, in advance and in writing, confirmation of the student's involvement, the specific activity and the dates of the activities from the coach/coordinator. The dates for the exams are indicated on the schedule provided. Please plan your other activities accordingly.

Quizzes:

Three quizzes will be given throughout the semester most of which correspond to cases from the text, videos or from a series of specifically assigned readings. I will announce at least one class prior to when there will be a quiz, allowing students ample time to read/prepare. Quizzes will be given at the beginning of the class. (Length of time will be a function of the number of questions and the level of difficulty of those questions. The format of the questions for quizzes will be similar to that of exams.

Attendance:

Since attendance is such a critical component to my classes, I will randomly take attendance 5 times throughout the semester. Each time attendance is taken, students in attendance earn one percentage point. Attendance will account for 10% of each student's grade.
